This apparatus, from its many advantageous quali-ties, viz., Simplicity, Efficiency, and Cheapuese, combined with Superabundant Strength, is rendered qual to the roughest work, likewise being comparatively the end of transit. The importance of the interest of a horizontal ram, mount be summed up thus:

Ist.—The crusher consists of a horizontal ram, mount of losely on an ecoentric, by means of which a crush is and grinding movement is attained.

Ind.—The material is reduced to its required also by simply setting the fixed face.

"The ram-head works against a fixed toothed face, and, if there were nothing more, stones put into the hopper would be simply crushed between the two—much as in Blake's machine. But here the similarity ends. It has been found that what we may best term a chewing action materially facilitates the breakage of the stones, and this chewing action is obtained by mounting the ram-head and its thrust-bur of handle on an eccentric produces the precise effect required very efficiently. All the arrangements are very simple and mechanical and the machine appears to have nothing about it to get out or order. We were much pleased with it."

The Public Health. We noticed in a paper the other day a statement to the effect that the summer of 1872 promises to be among the most kly knows ou this continent, or probably throughout the civilized world, g very many years past. It referred to the alarming spread of the smallwhose ravages had terrified the inabitants of most of the large towns and in America and Europe, and whose rictims are numbered by thousands phus and other equally dangerous and al fevers, have lately been alarmingly evaluat, and brought mourning and station to many a household, havell-nigh numbered among its victims heir spparent of the British Crown. eases, it is considered all but certain hat that fell destroyer of the human race, holers, will aweep over the old and destruction, carrying death and dismay in the line of its progress. Somewhat late in the season last year it broke out ces of Russis, and spread with remerkable repidity into Presis, the cuset because France and England, and from thence with a sudden bound to New York and Halifax, Nova Scotia. Before it had time to gain a firm hold upon the communities where its presence were the presence of the communities where its presence were the presence of the communities where its presence were the presence of the communities where its presence were the communities and the communities where its presence were the communities and the communities where the communities where the communities were the communities and the communities where the communities were the communities and the communities are the communities and the communities where the communities where the communities are the communities and the communities where the communities are the communities and the communities are the communities and the communities are the communities and the communities are the communities are the communities are the communities are the communities and the communities are the communities a fies where its presence was manfested, the cold weather set in, which combined with the most vigorous sani-tary precautions, checked for the time being its deadly power. It is stated as once makes its appearance, as it tid lote last fall, it invariably re-appears me following year, in pursuance of its mission of sickness, sorrow and death.

If that he true, as we believe it to be,

Exattention to sanitary precautions and obgrors of cholers may be materially asaged if not altogether averted. It where there is a pure atmosphere—it is in the haunts of filth and wretchedness here the cholera does its most deadly work. We have no disposition to give rice to any annecessary feeling of unposiness to the citizens of Victoria, but at the same time we deem it not out of see to call their attention to this matpal Council that with them rests the trapone bility of seeing that the city is put ira proper state of cleanlines, in case it cheeld unfortunately be visited by the chylera or any other kind of contagious disease during the ensuing summer season.

He may calculate almost with certainty that the cholera should break out and become prevalent in the East, it will find revalent in the East, it will find way to this coast and to this city. munication is now so rapid and regfar between here and ports on the Sound d Ban Francisco that it would be welligh impossible to prevent it obtaining a cothold amongst us, however strict night be the quarantine regulations adopted for that purpose. We need careely say that the sanitary condition of Victoria just now is as bad as it well can be, because everyone knows it, and complaints are heard on every hand about it, True, the Council have been doing a good work upon the streets of late, and have had a deal of rubbish removed that was offensive to the sense both of eight and smell; but there is still very travine is an intolerable nuisance to are loud and deep, on account of the foul

The new steamer Maude arrived at 12:30 this morning from Nanaimo, calling at Cuemainus, Salt Spring Island, Maple Bay and LAST NIGHT'S DESPATCHES. Cowichan, with about 150 excursionists for this city, who came down to take part in the proceedings of to day. The steamer left Nanaimo at 2 p. m. yesterday, thus making a very good run.

When off the entrance of the barbor, the when on the entrance of the narror, the North Pacific, on her way to Port Townsend, was observed heading out; a collision ap-pearing imminent, she blew the waistle, which was answered by the other vessel, but unaccountably, the former was struck by the Maude on the starboard side, forward of the wheel, cutting into her guards about two feet, and carrying away her upper work. The Mande was also injured; a large gap is noth ng to prevent her making the trip to San Juan and also to Nanaimo with her ex-Mr. DECosmos will be a candidate ursionists. Neither boat made any water,for the House of Commons at the lowever, the passengers were much frightened, and amongst the women and children here was a g od deal of alarm. Had she not had her engines reversed at the moment of striking, it is probable that the damage would have been much more serious.

A hand belonging to the North Pacific, known as "Bismark," a German, is missing, and the North Pacific shortly after the misbuilding for their use a very large and perior tug boat. She will be about 250 hap turned round and came leto port to make enquiry concerning him; a little after wards she left again for the Sound. Return of a Prospecting Party.

Mr. Todd, M. P. P., and Mr. John Telford fter a twenty-two day's trip to the mountains on an exploring and pleasure trip, returned to town yesterdy evening. They travelled via Gold tream and Leech River, as far as the San Juan River, which flows into the sea on the West Coast. On this stream, which they pronounce to be very rugged, they prospected for three days, and panned out two onnces of beautiful course lead gold. They are so pleased with the prospects that they propose to visit this creek again. They also visited, while on the tramp, Leech River and the Jordan. On Leach there are three men preparing to work-Scotty, Meiggs, and another. Our informants have been walking four een days; saw no game of any sort, except grouse; met with no prairie land; endured much fatigue and hardship. San Juan river is described as a canon for miles, with here and there a small bar, on one of which was obtained the from Nanalmo. Among the passengers we observed the following: Capt. and Mrs. Spaulding, Mrs. Beece, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Millade, Mrs. Least, Miss Dunsmair, Messra. Smithe, M. P. P., Rev. Mr. Reynard Transield, Lindsey, Miller, Dring, T. S. Allatt, Miss. Westwood and Mr. Kinnear. gold above mentioned. We have hardly ever seen so handsome a prospect as the gold brought in, presents. It was found on the bed-rock, and in about two feet of gravel. This was the only place tried, and provisions getting short, the party were compelled to beat a re-treat into town. The river is not easily worked, but the water in the streams was falling rapidly, and for the month of May, the season was the driest ever known. Snow n patches was seen on the mountain tops four ranges of hills of the roughest character were crossed in the course of the trip, and they estimate four or five days wou d be consumed to reach the spot where they worked Along the banks of the stream are to be met with in places, benches, which it is presumed contain gold; these were not, however, tried, fleved that the time is not very far distant building used as a dead house, it will shortly when gold in paying quantities will be found in the trace." BRITISH COLUMBIANS IN LONDON orage for Goods of [FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.] LONDON, March 30th, 1872. EDITOR STANDARD :- I was in Newcastle when Sir Chas. Dilke delivered his speech about the Civil List and surprised the nation by the statements he made and the republic tendencies of the speech as a whole. It caused a good deal of discussion and excited no small amount of indignation in the North and subsequently throughout the Kingdom. I had an opportunity then of judging of the extent and value of the republican clement ed at 11 a. m., having been in continuous institutions in their present shape. As to the session for 24 hours. The Senate was in continuous session this evening on the additional article of the Treaty of Washington with the modification proposed by the majority of the Committee on Foreign Relations, to effect the original object by a change of phraseology to make it of equal application to both sides.

The President this evening signed the House Amnesty Bill, passed by the Senate this morning. The provisions of the bill will, it it is supposed, cover less than 200 cases, including Jeff Davis and J. C. Breckinridge.

Spaingried, Ill., May 22—The Kepublican State Convention held here is the largest Convention ever held in the State; every county but one being fully represented. Gen Richards was nominated for Governor by acclamation.

Lexingron, May 22—Swarms of locusts are reported to have appeared in Bustion county, in the continuous session of a seat in the House, for which I had previously obtained a card. It had been rumored that an attempt would be made to get rid of Sir Charles motion for an inquiry into the Crown expenses by a count-out, and I was afraid that my exertions about the card would go unreward d, but it was clear, on the meeting of the House heine to be discussed. Sir Charles Dilke's motion was the first on the list after the question, and was reached ten in the state; the occasion of the effect of Sir Charles Dilke's speeches in the North I was in London to see how the people here and there. Having observed the effect of Sir Charles Dilke's s list after the question, and was reached ten minuses past five. The House being densely crowded a number of members were unable to gain seats standing below the bar. Among these was Lord Bury. As soon as Sir Charles Dilke's motion was called, Lord Bury removed his bat, and, still standing at the bar, arrested general attention by requesting the opinion of the Speaker on a question of privilege. He held in his hand a large pasteboard card containing the oath of allegiance as follows;

'I do swear that I will be faiibful and bear true allegiance to Her Majesty Queen Victoria, and to her heirs and successors ecording to the law, so help me God." This is a great deal shorter than the oath which was required of the members of you late Legislative Council, and says nothing about the "heirs of the body of the Electress Sophia."

Lord Bury, after having said that Sir Charles had taken the oath as aforesaid, and that he subsequently declared himself to be a Republican, remarked that the two things were inconsistent, and he had to ask whether it was f r the boar of the House, before to bearing the bon Baronet, if he still adhered San Francisco, May 23—The Committee of the statement that he was a Republican the new railroad and the Committee of One The Speaker replied that there was no quesities of shat was consistent or monsistent, and looking at the terms of the motion, as proposed by the hon Baronet, he could see no violation of the eath Sir Chas. He was cheered at almost every sentence by all parties. On sitting down, Mr. Auberon rose to speak in support of the motion. Then for nearly an hour, the wildest uproar prevailed in the Senate House, and our "potent, grave and reverend seignors" screamed, hosted, bawled, howled, stamped, and yelled as if the afflatus of all the Furies had seized them. Some variation was secur-ed by cat-calls, barking, cock-crowing and comic songs, but the main feature of the uproar was an inturiate shouting such as I have seen before a hustings in honor of an unpopular cai didate. I had antiripated a "scene," but I had no i lea of ever witnessing one like that in the Imperial Parliament. At length, finding that Mr. Herbert's determination to speak could not be shaken, there was a sudden rush of members to the door, like hat which takes place in a boarding house when the dinner bell rings. The object of the rush, however, was not din er, but a count out. It did not succeed, for on the motion of Mr. Montague Guest a count was

Friday, 24th May, 1872, had, and more than a quorum forty mem-bers—was present. Those who had left re-turned looking as if they had not had dinner, and then again the storm of opposition re-commenced. On the motion of our Harvey Bruce, after an ther dinner like rush to the door, the House was counted again, and again a quorum remained. Such proceedings reminded me of the lively Legislative Assembly of Vancouver Island, under Governor Kennedy, but I am sure there was never any resemblance there to the joly row-for it was nothing less,—I witnessed on this occasion. Sir Charles Dilk is the second Baronet of that name and a new addition to the eristo-cracy, but Mr. Herbert belongs to one of the most ancient of noble families and I suppos-that the House, while regarding Sir Charles as a parrent and an ingrate, did not deem his recreancy very extraordinary, but could not tolerate Mr. Herbert's aympathy, and support of the republican Sir Charles. The confusion continued until Lord E. Cecil, in very shame, it may be imagined, for the Babel raging around him ob-tained the exclusion of strangers. This homage to public decency was a partial atonement for the row. On the re-admission of the public, the House was dividing on the question of adjournment. But there seemed to be a determination to end the matter that evening, and no adjournment followed. Mr. Liddell tried to throw oil on the troubled waters, by classing the whole proceedings of the evening as a "Comedy of Errors," to be forgotten as soon as possible. Sir Charles wound up by replying temperately and expressing his intention to divide the House. The resolutions were then again read, and on the one side the lobbies were crowded with members, while Sir harles Dike and Mr. Herbe t remained as tellers. The following was, as you already know by telegraph, the resul :-
